

As part of the physical therapy team.

I'm helping Veterans regain mobility and confidence.

Become a VA physical therapist.

Administration

Why VA?

The best care starts with the best opportunities.

More than a century ago, President Lincoln made a promise to America's servicemen and women, pledging the care and concern of a grateful Nation for the sacrifices they made to preserve freedom. Since 1930, the mission of the Department of Veterans Affairs (VA) has been to keep that promise.

Today, Department of Veterans Affairs has grown into one of the largest, most technologically advanced health care systems in the United States. We have employees who work at more than 153 medical centers, 909 ambulatory and community-based outpatient clinics, 135 nursing homes, and a number of other facilities across the country.

At VA we strive to provide a professional, supportive environment where our patients, and you, can thrive.

VA and physical therapy.

If you're looking for an opportunity to help our Nation's Heroes regain their freedom and independence, then a career as a VA physical therapist could be for you.

As valued members of VA's patient care teams, our physical therapists contribute directly to the interdisciplinary process of planning for patient care, and they apply the latest advances in rehabilitative treatment to create the very best patient care plans.

In return, we offer them competitive salaries, first-rate employment benefits, and nationwide job transfer opportunities.

If you have an interest in serving those who have served our country, all while pioneering the way in physical therapy, then explore a career with VA.

The best patients.

There's a certain camaraderie that Veterans share with each other. Young or old, male or female: those who have served our country enjoy the company of those who have experienced the same.

And as any VA physical therapist will explain, Veterans extend that bond to their rehabilitation care team. Because our enrolled Veterans are assured treatment from the onset of a condition through goal achievement, our physical therapists have the opportunity to form lasting relationships with their patients.

From injured active duty personnel to middle age and elderly Veterans, our patients grow to rely on their VA caregivers to develop the most unique and resourceful treatment options — and at VA, our physical therapists are supported in doing so.

Guided by integrity and lifelong learning, our VA physical therapists experience a freedom of practice that is backed by the support and experience of a multi-specialty staff and management.

The best networking.

Nothing motivates a professional environment like the sharing of knowledge and mentorship. And unlike any other health care system, VA offers vast networking opportunities for its physical therapists to do just that.

Through online mail groups and regular conference calls, VA's physical therapists have access to hundreds of their peers to share and to learn new information and techniques. Most of our physical therapists are leaders in their fields who serve as in-house mentors, and can regularly share their research and best practices.

In fact, our National VA Physical Therapy Advisory Council partners with American Physical Therapy Association (APTA) to advocate for needed change at the national level. A number of VA physical therapists serve in leadership roles in APTA as officers for sections and state delegates, as well as officers in state and district groups.

When you join the VA health care team, you'll become part of an organized voice that not only advocates for, but also facilitates the continued development of its physical therapists.

The best technology.

Take your career to a higher level.

At VA, we're committed to improving our patients' results and are dedicated to enhancing our employee experience. Our technology-driven care is one way by which we try to accomplish both. And after years of development, VA now has the most comprehensive Computerized Patient Records System (CPRS) in the Nation.

Now, VA employees can access patient medical records from any location in the Nation. Our intricate computer system puts each Veteran's medical records, lab results, x-rays, EKGs, and more at the fingertips of physical therapists and the entire patient care team as they work together to design the best possible treatments and interventions.

Additionally, VA rehabilitation teams experience the benefit of working with today's state-of-the-art assistive technologies with the goal of improving patient independence.

Physical Therapy Practice at VA

More education. More affiliations. More opportunities.

No matter which direction you choose, VA offers our physical therapists a rich environment primed to develop their interest in either clinical education or research.

And because of numerous affiliations with colleges and universities, many VA physical therapists also guide students' clinical residencies, as well as conduct national and international continuing education courses. Others conduct ongoing research in conjunction with various learning institutions in cardiopulmonary rehabilitation, spinal cord injury, and sensory motor disturbances.

VA is also a nationally recognized leader in prosthetics research and development through the PAVE (Prevention of Amputation for Veterans Everywhere) program, and these relationships keep our physical therapists on the cutting-edge.

VA offers a clinical setting in a supportive environment.

As one of the largest health care systems in the Nation, our connected network provides our physical therapists the opportunity to work with each other over a wider range of opportunities across the continuum of care. From primary care and wellness programs to disease prevention and post-trauma rehabilitation, our clinical care practice settings include:

- Inpatient acute care
- Primary care
- Comprehensive inpatient and outpatient rehabilitation programs
- Spinal cord injury centers
- Geriatric/extended care
- Polytrauma centers
- Amputation centers

Team-based rehabilitation methodologies are stressed at VA, and many of our physical therapists work directly with acute medical, surgical, neurological, orthopedic, and cardiopulmonary teams. They are also key members of home-based patient care, amputee teams, traumatic brain injury care, palliative care, podiatry teams, geriatric teams and primary care practice teams.
